Known, but now even better.

Windows 10 is a well-known and easy-to-use system that in many ways is similar to Windows 7 - includes, for example, the Start menu. Fast launch speed and resumes, it has more built-in safeguards to ensure your safety and is designed to operate with hardware and software that you already have.

Millions of people are already using Windows 10.

The implicit test program Windows is a global community of Windows fans who want to make this system has become even better. Participants in the program have had contact with this operating system since its creation and have an impact on its current form. Their comments were used to create the best Windows ever.

On the Internet, you act the way you want.

Microsoft Edge makes even better use of the browser. Take notes directly on web pages - write on the keyboard or odręcznie - and share them with others. Read unhindered articles online and save favorite pages to easily return to them later.

Making multiple things at once facilitates faster errands.

Act faster with better management of place on the desktop. You can attach up to four applications simultaneously on the screen and create virtual desktops, if you need more space or when you want
